DEMING FARMERS USE MANY PUMPS

Beans the Staple Crop in That Section Are Doing Well.

The Herald's agent in Deming is C. C. Rogers, room 1, Elbert building. The Herald will be delivered to all parts of the city same night of publication, at 60 cents per month.

Deming, N. M., July 20.—Report has come to the chamber of commerce at least one section of land, miles south of Deming, on each quarter section of which a pumping plant has been installed, and just over the section line is another plant, making five adjoining pumping plants, and crops now as follows: E. H. Switzer, No. 4, Advance pump, throwing 500 gallons per minute, and 20 acres under cultivation; A. G. Harrison, No. 4 pump and 24 horsepower Gray motor, giving 500 gallons per minute, with 20 acres in cultivation; M. W. Hollingshead, No. 3 American, with 10 horsepower Foss engine, with 10 acres in cultivation; H. F. Baldwin, 100 acres fenced, 50 horsepower engine, well down to first strata; J. W. Sheshan, 25 horsepower Alamo engine and No. 5 Eclipse pump, with 60 acres in cultivation. Nearly all of the above crops consist of beans and feed, Sheehan having 40 acres in beans. Hollingshead has beans in, and as soon as they are harvested he will put in 30 acres of fruit trees.

C. B. McCall, of Baltimore, H. M. Coleman, of Mineral Wells, and Dr. C. C. Parish, of El Paso, Texas, are among the new arrivals investigating Deming with a view of locating here.

Dr. and Mrs. I. B. Keller, who recently located in Deming, coming from Pittsburg, have rented the Episcopal rectory on Spruce street, west, and are fitting it up for their home.

My Corns Don't Hurt a Bit

Tired, Ailing, Smelly, Swollen, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn-killer with your finger tip if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blemish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this.

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. Today there is no sign of corns on either foot no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend—Sam A. Hoover, Progress, N. C."

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose you ever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all drug stores, 25 cents per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

IMPROVEMENT OF MINES AT ORGAN

Dr. Hugh Crouse of El Paso to Patent His Claim.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—What promises to be a revival of the interest in mining in the lead camp of the Organ was the recording of a mining deed from Jeff Ake and associates for the "Heno" No. 2, which has been deeded to Dr. Hugh Crouse, of El Paso.

Wade & Wade, attorneys for Dr. Crouse, announce that they are making preparations to have all the Crouse claims patented, the property is included in two groups of three claims each and the deed recorded is the result of a deal to clear the title of all conflicts before proceeding to patent.

M. M. Mills, of Organ, also reports renewed activity in the vicinity of his property, and in support of his faith in the future greatness of the camp he has filed location notice for the Jasper No. 1, located about one mile north of Excelsior mine and about one-half mile south of the Old Silver Gem.

Mr. Mills states he intends to begin active work as soon as his health will permit.

UPPER VALLEY IS CUTTING ALFALFA

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—J. W. Taylor of upper valley reports starting on the third cutting of alfalfa, and if the weather remains fair it is expected that this crop will equal the second cutting. Reports from the first two cuttings in the American Bands gave the average yield in that portion of the valley at three tons for the two cuttings.

LITTLE BOBBIE'S PA

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

I WISH I cud git a week off, sed Pa, & I wud cum back looking like a new man.

I do not doubt it in the least, sed Ma, if you git a hour off you cum back looking like a new man. Sumtimes, wen you git two hours off, sed Ma, you look so much like a new man that even the janitor doesn't know you.

I wish you wuddent be so fasheshus, Pa sed, I am seerully thinking of go-

I must walk strait. I Must Walk Strait! The second commandment is simpel, sed Pa. It says Thou Shalt Use all thy Lungs all the Time.

That will be a easy one for you, sed Ma. Last nite, after you had been out with all them Elks, you calm home with yure lungs good & open. What is the third commandment?

Thou shalt drink half a gallon of water daily, sed Pa.

On the square sed Ma.

No, sed Pa, on the side.

I thought as much, sed Ma. What is the next commandment?

The next commandment, sed Pa, is Thou shalt talk sufficient nourishment. Isent that a bitful thought, sed Pa, for Mister McCoy to give to the world.

I guess it is, sed Ma, only it seems to me that my brother once told me that he bet so much money on Mister McCoy that he didnt have any nourishment at all for over a month.

Well, sed Pa, there is no use going tho all the details of them ten commandments, they are the same old stuff about refraining from too much stim-y-lants & about sleeping eight hours daily & bathing every day & walking three miles every day if you cant find somebody you know that can buy one dram after walking one hundred yards.

The only other commandment of Mister McCoy's, sed Pa, that is worth remembering is the one numbered Nine, which says:

Thou shalt think pleasant thoughts & banish unpleasant ones.

I see, sed Ma, he is trying to forget about that fite with Jim Corbett.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR CRUCES CASES

The El Paso Brick Company Case Has Been Appealed.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—Two important cases will go to the supreme court of the territory to be held in Santa Fe on August 15. The first of these cases, and the one of greatest interest in El Paso, is the case of J. H. McKnight vs. the El Paso Brick Co. This case involves title to the placer claims on the west side of the Rio Grande above the smelter, where the El Paso Brick company has its plant. J. H. McKnight won the case before the trial court, and the case goes to the supreme court on appeal of the defendants.

The case of Joseph Brown Oliver and Mildred Oliver vs. Jose Enriques involves 1724 acres of land in the Refugio Colony grant, this case in itself presents a question of law that is of vital importance to all land owners in the territory as it raises the question as to the length of time a court holds jurisdiction over decrees after having been granted, and raises a question as to the right of the court to again take up a case where the decree has been issued to quiet title to a piece of property.

CRUCES TAXES ARE RAISED THREE MILLS

Levy Is Made on Cattle—To Repair Bridge at Anthony.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—At a special meeting of the board of county commissioners held here, the question of providing for the "eradication fund" was taken up, and the board voted an additional tax of 3 1/4 mills on all cattle, horses, mules and asses in the county, this levy to be in addition to the levy made at the regular meeting on July 6.

It was also reported to the commissioners that the bridge near Anthony was in bad condition on account of the recent high water, and that the west end of the bridge was entirely washed away from the bank by the washing out of the earth approach at that end. It was ordered by the board that the bridge be repaired as soon as the condition of the river would permit.

DONA ANA DITCH HAS BEEN EMPTIED

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—It was reported that the Dona Ana and Mesilla ditches had been emptied about a mile and a half above Dona Ana, caused by the high water of the past few weeks—the ditch has been dry for two days and it is understood that there will be no water for four or five days, as it will take that long to repair the damage.

REPAIRING THE CRUCES STREETS

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—Work has been started on the widening of Griggs street from Main street east, the Masonic temple is set back to the edge of the sidewalk and the adobe fence and wall from Main street to the alley is being taken down so as to permit the sidewalk to be built.

LAS CRUCES PERSONALS.

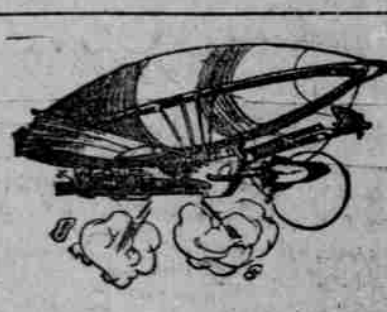

Las Cruces, N. M., July 20.—Mrs. Amelia Jarra has returned to the valley after a short absence in San Diego. Morris Freudenthal, of the Hotel Don Bernardo, has gone to Alamogordo to spend several days.

Jim Sattley and Mark Thompson have returned from Denver.

MIDLAND CROPS BENEFIT BY ANOTHER SOAKING RAIN

Midland, Texas, July 20.—Another general rain fell in the Midland territory and adjoining towns. It covered a large area and in many places was very heavy.

Henry M. Haiff, who has this year proved the value of alfalfa growing in the Midland country, this week ordered 300 pounds of special selected, non-irrigated alfalfa seed, to sow on his farm. Mr. Haiff this year drilled his alfalfa and cultivated it carefully afterward, relying mainly on the natural rainfall, and attained marked success.

The SKY PIRATE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Illustrated by Parker.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.
Capt. Alfonso Payton, the sky pirate, kidnaps Helen Grayman, New York's richest girl, and carries her away in his airship, the Chameleon. He poses as commodore Brown.

She thinks her abduction is a practical joke. Payton takes her to his lodge in a Labrador wilderness. William Grayman, her father, secretly summons the police.

By wireless telephone Payton demands $10,000,000 ransom from Grayman, who agrees to meet him at Tribes Hill with the money. Grayman plans to trap the pirate.

Helen and her maid are well cared for by Payton, but are closely guarded by Indian John. Helen suspects that they are prisoners.

One afternoon Payton captures four police aeroplanes sent to trap him and kills several policemen before Grayman reaches the scene.

Grayman and police commissioner Braman reach Tribes Hill. Payton kidnaps Grayman, who again promises to pay the ransom.

"Well, out with it, Mr. Grayman—what is your friend?" sneered the pirate.

Without replying, Grayman turned round on his heel, expecting to see the police aeroplanes swiftly approaching. But he saw nothing except the commissioner frantically waving his handkerchief.

"They're not coming," said Payton derisively. "The commissioner may wave his arms off, but you'll never see his aeroplanes. I fixed them all four this morning, and now I guess I shall have to fix you!"

As he spoke he lifted his hand.

Immediately the Chameleon wore round and swept down toward them in a beautiful curve. As she grazed the ground, two men sprang off, and before he could have offered a show of resistance, Mr. Grayman was seized, lifted from his feet and carried aboard.

Payton followed at his heels, and a moment later they were circling upward.

That which Mr. Grayman's good sense had all the while been telling him would happen had happened. It may or may not appear strange that his first impression was not of fear, but of shame because he had made an ass of himself.

When the unhappy commissioner from his post of observation saw this maneuver, which belied all his predictions and promises to Mr. Grayman, he nearly went crazy. It was utterly beyond his comprehension why the aeroplanes did not move. Then he cursed the marksmen, who also had done nothing.

"Shoot, curse you, shoot! Pepper that aeroplan!" he now yelled. "Come out of cover and shoot!"

The men came running from various directions and began to fire wildly. If they had been specially trained to shoot birds on the wing with rifle bullets they might have stood a chance of hitting the Chameleon. Payton laughed loudly at them, and to show his contempt, circled around without trying to get away.

"Take your time, boys!" he shouted. "You'll improve with practice. Meanwhile I'll show you how."

As he spoke a thin blue flame leaped from the Chameleon and one of the men dropped in his tracks. Another flash with the same result. The sharpshooters ran for cover. Then the aeroplanes turned and swooped down toward the commissioner. Suddenly pausing a few yards above his head, Payton leaned over the side and said: "My best respects to you, Mr. Commissioner Braman. When you lay another trap for Alfonso Payton just fetch the rest of your metropolitan police to see the fun. Goodbye!"

The enraged commissioner drew his pistol and fired point blank at Payton. The bullet whistled close by the latter's head, but he only laughed and shouted back. "A pretty good shot, commissioner!" Then he added more severely, "I could lay you in your tracks, but you are a brave man, though no fox hunter, and I'll let you off this time."

The chief's reply was two more shots, which also missed their mark. Payton laughed again, and the Chameleon, making a sudden turn, soared high aloft and then darted off westward with her billionaire prisoner.

CHAPTER VII.
THE BILLIONAIRE'S PREDICAMENT.

MEANWHILE what was happening to William Grayman? The Chameleon, as I have said, speeded westward upon leaving Tribes Hill, and Payton took good care to rise so high and to disguise the aero so well with appropriate color that probably not an eye caught sight of her after she quitted the scene of the encounter with the police.

As soon as Mr. Grayman had been carried aboard he was put into the little room that had been occupied by his daughter, and the door was locked upon him.

"I had to venture it," he soliloquized. "I don't see that there was any other way—and yet I was a fool! And what have I gained? Almost it would have been better to pay the money and let the scoundrel go—if he surrendered Helen safe."

Then he tried to imagine what Payton would do. Would he keep him a prisoner? But what could he gain by that? The billionaire knew well enough that there was nobody who would pay $10,000,000 to have him released. Was his life in danger? No, he did not think so. The commissioner's reasoning on that point seemed conclusive. All the danger centered on his daughter. At moments he debated whether he should not now offer to pay the ransom and have done with it. He could afford it, enormous though the sum was. He had cleared fifty millions during the past year.

While he was turning the subject in his mind the door opened and Payton entered.

"Mr. Grayman," he said in his most winning manner, "I give you my word as a gentleman that I am inexpressibly pained by what has occurred. It was not my intention to carry you off or to offer you any indignity whatever, but you know as well as I do that I was compelled."

"You promised me immunity if I would meet you," interposed Mr. Grayman.

"And you broke the convention by coming to the rendezvous under the secret escort of a whole fleet," laughed Payton. "But for my means of learning the designs of my enemies I should have been beautifully trapped. But now I let that pass. I am willing to overlook it in view of your inexperience in such affairs as this. You are now, by force of circumstances, in a position where it will be impossible for any further interruption of our private conversation to occur, and we may proceed with the business in the most amicable spirit."

The easy self assurance of this speech and Payton's cool assumption that he was the injured party quite dumfounded Mr. Grayman. He saw the game well enough, but he did not see a way to meet it. He felt a desire to throttle the fellow. "Where is my daughter?" he demanded.

Payton smiled provokingly as he replied, "She is where no police in the world can ever find her and where she will remain in my charge until the ransom is paid or until!"

Payton purposely did not finish the sentence, but remained silent, looking straight into the billionaire's eyes. If it was his plan to shake his prisoner's nerves he was fairly successful. "I do not want any harm to come to you or your daughter, but I must have the ten millions. You have the money; I have the girl. You can afford the price, and she is worth it to you or to any man. Your life is in my hands—there's no denying that. But I don't want it. I want only the money."

Mr. Grayman saw that he must temporize somehow. The first thing was to get himself out of this fix. He would try promises, and if worst came to worst he would even pay the ransom.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes.

Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

HANDS BURN LIKE FIRE

Could Lay Pin in Cracks. Four Long Years of Eczema. Only Relief in Scratching. Used One Set of Cuticura Remedies. Hands Entirely Well.

"I can truthfully say Cuticura Remedies have cured me of four long years of eczema. About four years ago I noticed some little pimples coming on my little fingers, and not giving it any attention, it soon became worse and spread all over my hands. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching."

"So after hearing so much about the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, I purchased one complete set, and after using three days my hands were much better. To-day my hands are entirely well, one set being all I used." (Signed) Miss Etta Narber, R. F. D. 2, Spring Lake, Mich., Sept. 26, 1910.

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin. A single hot bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment are sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are equally effective in preventing, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp, will be mailed free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 28, Boston, Mass.

son, trusting to get it back again when Payton should finally be caught.

"What do you want me to do?" he asked.

"I want you to promise me on your honor as a gentleman and a banker to meet me with the money at a place which I shall designate later, and where Helen shall be surrendered to you if you faithfully keep your engagement. Will you do that?"

"Suppose I refuse?"

Payton's lip curled. "Then you will not return to New York?"

"Suppose I say 'Yes'?"

"Then I will carry you home myself with the Chameleon."

A WARNING WORD

From the Herpicide Girl

You are becoming bald. The hair is getting thin on the top of your head and unless you take any advice you will, before long, be as hairless as a croquet ball. Remember too that chronic baldness is incurable.

It is all due to dandruff. I can tell, because you always have dandruff flakes on your coat collar. Besides being an indication of impending baldness, it also suggests a ranchman of some means, who lives about six miles east of town. Jesus Sainz is well known about town, having lived here for years.

Newbro's Herpicide will kill the germ that causes dandruff, checks further accumulation of sebum and stops falling hair.

You are not taking any chances when you purchase Herpicide and you are tempting fate when you use any thing else. Herpicide has thousands upon thousands of satisfied users who testify to its germ destroying and hair preserving qualities.

Your druggist is authorized to guarantee one dollar size bottles. The best barbers recommend and use it.
